

Abstract

A graphical display system for use in a pizza restaurant, including an image generator and a display monitor positioned at a customer order station for displaying to the customer a photo-realistic image of a cooked pizza ordered by the customer prior to finalizing an order. A display monitor is also positioned at the food preparation station 5 for displaying a photo-realistic image of the raw ingredients of the pizza ordered by the customer and a display monitor is positioned at the packaging station for displaying photo-realistic image of the cooked pizza ordered by the customer insuring that the correct pizza is delivered to the correct customer.